DENY AMERICAN IMPERIALISM IS RAMPANT

STATE DEPT. OPENS WIDE INVESTIGATION

TO PROBE THE HAPPENINGS IN NICARAGUAN CIVIL WAR AREA

SO IT CAN REFUTE CHARGES HERE AND ABROAD OF U. S. INTERFERENCE

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29.—The state department is asking Admiral Julian Latimer, United States naval commander, to report more fully happenings in the Nicarguan civil war area, occupied by United States forces, so it can refute charges here and abroad of American imperialism and interference.

President Coolidge took a hand in the situation late yesterday by summoning Secretary Kellogg and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to discuss developments. At the same time Dr. T. S. Vaca, liberal representative here, filed a formal protest with the state department against American occupation of Puerto Cabezas, virtual imprisonment of President Sacasa and alleged American censorship.

Secretary Kellogg, when shown reports today that Latimer had established a censorship at three coast ports, said this was news to him, adding that Latimer's instructions would not permit such action.

Repeated military victories of the liberals, recognized by Mexico, and defeat of the conservatives, recognized by the United States, is rapidly completing an already difficult situation, according to diplomats here.

While the White House issued a statement denying charges of interference and lamenting that the press is being misled regarding the facts of the situation, neither the White House nor the state department were informed as to whether the American forces in protecting American lives and property had, or had not, done the things which aroused so much criticism.

The state department admitted it did not know whether Latimer had established a censorship, searched Sacasa liberal "government" residences at Puerto Cabezas or disarmed the liberal forces as reported from Nicaragua.

CRITICIZE THE USE OF AMERICAN MARINES

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29.—Criticising use of American marines by the state department in the Nicaraguan revolution, Senator George W. Norris, republican, Nebraska, asserted today that if the United States attempted the same thing against Great Britain "the warships would already be booming."

In an interview with the United Press, Norris condemned what he called the efforts of the state department to conceal the true state of affairs on the Central American conflict and declared Nicaraguan revolutions were usually inspired by New York financial interests.

Suggesting a solution for some of the mysteries of the Nicaraguan revolution, Norris said:

"These eruptions in Nicaragua are usually at the instance of Wall Street. They want to collect some money or want to lend some more money to collect. The United States then selects a president there and keeps him in office for the sake of peace.

"I have not any doubt that is just what happened in the present situation.

"If the state department even is doing what it admits it is, it is an improper thing, but if it is doing what dispatches from Nicaragua state, it is violating international law.

"If it were Great Britian or any of the major powers we were dealing with, instead of Nicaragua, the warships already would be booming on both sides and our people would be in another war without knowing what it was all about.

"There are doubts being expressed in some quarters that any requests for protection were made by Americans as the state department claims.

"Certainly the last thing the Sacasa liberal forces would do is to violate the neutrality of American property and lives, when they know such a violation would bring ruin to their cause.

"Certainly the senate will do something about this situation when it reconvenes."

KELLOGG DISREGARDS ALL OBJECTORS

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29.—Indignant over senatorial and foreign criticisms of United States occupation of Nicaraguan east coast ports as imperialistic and unjustified, Secretary of State Kellogg decided today to continue the occupation regardless of objections.

This decision was reached following early morning conferences of Kellogg with President Coolidge and Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The state department has no intention of withdrawing the American forces which are simply protecting foreign lives and property and which have orders to continue to do so, it was said on Kellogg's behalf.

Reports that American marines and bluejackets might soon be withdrawn have been published, based on the fact that there is no longer active warfare in the vicinity of Puerto Cabezas, and on statements by the conservative government that it was withdrawing its forces from the east coast, following liberal victories.

Other developments today in the situation which has centered the diplomatic world's attention on the United States, were:

1. Announcement that the destroyers Borie and John D. Edwards will leave Norfolk, Va., probably next Wednesday for Nicaragua to relieve two destroyers now there.

It was purely a routine transfer order, according to navy officials.

2. Borah announced after his conference with Kellogg that Admiral Latimer, American navy leader in Nicaragua, was strictly limited by his orders to protection of foreign lives and property.

The instructions do not allow interference either with the Sacasa liberal government, recognized by Mexico, or the Diaz conservative governmnt recognized by the United States.

3. Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, in a United Press interview, criticized the state department for promoting interests of New York financiers in Central America, asserting that if Great Britain instead of Nicaragua were involved in such an issue "the guns already would be booming."

SEEKS TO EXTEND NEUTRAL ZONE

Managua, Nicaragua, Dec. 29. — Requests by President Diaz, head of the conservative government, for an extension of the neutral zone from Puerto Cabezas to other Pacific coast ports was being considered today by American authorities in Nicaragua. The Diaz government is recognized by the United States.

The United Press learned today Diaz plans to petition Admiral Julian Latimer, U. S. N., for extension of the neutral zone. It is said compliance with the request would amount to an embargo on importation of arms and ammunition to Nicaragua.

Continued losses of the conservative forces, who have been forced to retire to El Bluff, with consequent danger to American lives and property, was given by President Diaz as the reason for his request.

The president said his forces have been running short of ammunition and have been unable to withstand the advance of the armed liberal army. He said that forty men of the conservative army have been taken prisoner by the liberals and many have been killed or wounded.

Little Relief from Floods Causing 13 Deaths

ROBBED AND ABUSED CHICAGO WOMEN FOR MONTHS

Chicago, Dec. 29—(UP)—A hundred or more policemen searched the west side today for a youthful lad who robbed and abused Chicago women for months.

During a period of three hours last night six young women reported terrifying experiences with the "Cat", as the robber has been termed.

One or two reports of the "Cat's" escapades have trickled into police headquarters nightly for months.

The bandit obtained something in the neighborhood of $400 from the six girls he robbed. The loot included two diamond rings.

DRASTIC PLANS TO OUTWIT THE BANDIT GANGS

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA OFFICIALS HAVE CONFERENCE

24 TOWNS AND CITIES REPRESENTED AT OWATONNA MEETING

Owatonna, Minn., Dec. 29.—Prepared to adopt drastic measures to outwit bandit gangs that have operated uncaught for two months, southern Minnesota city officials and leading citizens gathered here today in a "stop crime" meeting.

The principal business was to be the discussion of legislation that will cope with the situation, formation of armed groups of citizens to be ready to call at any hour of the day or night and perfection of a speedy system of intercity communication to head off escaping gangs.

The conference was called following a series of bandit raids in which the criminals escaped, including the Rochester bank robbery, the Manka to fur warehouse raid, the Lake City post office burglary and a series of creamery thefts.

MANY SOFT DRINK PARLORS, SALOONS UNDER THE BAN

BIGGEST BLOW THE WISCONSIN TOWN RECEIVED IN YEARS

Hurley, Wis., Dec. 29. — (UP)— Padlocks hung today on the doors of 29 restaurants soft drink parlors and saloons in Hurley, the outlaw town of the Lake Superior mining region, which for years has been a law unto itself.

Three United States deputy marshals paraded up and down the main streets of Hurley Tuesday, serving the injunctions as a belated Christmas gift. They were issued by Federal Judge F. A. Creiger of Milwaukee at the request of United States District Attorney Stanley N. Ryan, Janesville, of the western Wisconsin district.

Joseph Reineri, defeated candidate for sheriff, who is seeking a recount of the votes in the November 2 election, and Policeman John Bino of the Hurley police force were among those whose places were named in the injunctions.

Four establishments in Raineri's name were placed under injunction and a building declared to be owned by Rino was padlocked.

The padlockings were the biggest blows that Hurley has suffered during all the years that it has fought the law. Ray Nye, deputy prohibition administrator, who quietly has been gathering evidence by sending his men into the town under various guises, was responsible.

The injunctions were issued by Judge Creiger at Madison, in the absence of Federal Judge C. Z. Luse and are temporary, but District Attorney Ryan is determined to make them permanent and to "close up Hurley forever."

Six years ago, 50 federal agents raided every establishment in Hurley, but Federal Judge Luse held that the search warrants for the 59 places were illegal and the drive failed.

Situated near Lake Superior and the upper Michigan peninsula, Hurley is declared by federal agents to have been a hangout for criminals and riff raff for many years. All attempts to "clean it up" have failed. When things became hot for some of its leading lights they would slip from Wisconsin over into Michigan.

Recently four men and one woman were arrested in St. Paul and charged by federal authorities with having attempted to lure girls to Hurley on the promise of lucrative jobs as waitresses.

DANGEROUS TO TRUST WORD OF BOOTLEGGER

Washington, Dec. 29. — (UP) — "Deliberate suicide" verdicts to explain deaths caused by drinking poison bootleg liquor were proposed by Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league today.

"Everyone knows the danger," the dry spokesman said in a statement.

"Those who trust the word of a bootlegger or believe his labels are gambling their lives away without one chance in 100 of winning.

"Deaths from this cause, however, are an insignificant fraction of those caused by the beer and whiskey of licensed days. Bootleg liquor is quicker. The victims of the corner saloon, while many times those of the bootlegger, did not get front page advertising that today multiplies suicide of a few addicts into important news."

SON WITH 30 YEARS IN PRISON, VISITS MOTHER

HAPPY CHRISTMAS SEASON FOR MRS. MIKE ROSS OF CANBY

GOVERNOR OF IOWA GRANTS 10 DAYS' LEAVE TO HERMAN BOCK

Canby, Minn., Dec. 29.—(UP) — Mrs. Mike Ross of Canby is spending her happiest holiday season. Her son, Herman Bock, a life prisoner at the Woodward prison farm in Iowa, was allowed to come home over Christmas after spending 30 years behind prison walls.

Governor John Hammill of Iowa granted the leave after receiving assurance that when his 10-day pass had expired Bock would return.

Thirty years ago Bock was a brick layer in New Hampden. He was married and the father of two daughters. He owned a home and 10 acres of land from which he supplied the kitchen table with the product of his own toil. Nothing seemed lacking for happiness.

Disaster struck suddenly. Away from New Hampden for three months while working elsewhere, he returned to find that home, wife and children were gone. Without his knowledge, Mrs. Bock had divorced him.

Crazed with grief and drink, he took a shotgun to church and emptied the contents at a woman he thought was his wife. It proved to be her sister.

Unable to understand English and poorly defended, he was sentenced to life imprisonment in October, 1896. More than 30 years of imprisonment has not changed Bock. He is pleasant and happy and bears no grudges. Not one mark is against him and for 28 years he has been the most model of trusties.

F. M. Daniels, former superintendent of a division of the Woodward farm, accompanied Bock. He used his influence to obtain permission for Bock's vacation and hopes to obtain a pardon before spring.

Bock's wife has remarried, his daughters are grown and no one stands in the way of his release except his 90-year-old father-in-law, who does not want him freed.

Herman Bock, No. 9385, after 30 years, is back to a happy mother through the good offices of Daniels.

Governor Hammill is a blessed Santa Claus.

3 KILLED, 5 HURT AS BOMB BURST AT SEOUL, KOREA

HOPES TO SMASH BRITISH WORLD MONOPOLY SOON

LIBERIAN CONGRESS RATIFIES CONCESSION OF MILLION ACRES

CLEARING, SANITATION AND PRELIMINARY WORK ALREADY BEGUN

Paris, Dec. 29.—(UP) — Harvey Firestone of the American Firestone Rubber Company, announced today that his concern will invest $100,000,000 in development of his recently acquired rubber properties in Liberia.

Firestone said the company was planning to develop the greatest rubber plantation in the world and hopes to smash the British monopoly on rubber within seven years.

A month ago the congress of the Liberian republic ratified a concession of 1,000,000 acres of rubber land at $1 an acre to the Firestone Company. It was understood clearing, sanitation and other preliminary work already has begun. The property is near Monroevia, the capital.

MODERN DISCIPLINE NEEDED IN WORLD

By CHARLES E. AHRENS

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 29—A modern discipline is needed to return the world from its bewilderment, G. A. Studdert Kennedy, London, England, told the United Press in an interview here today. Kennedy, a theologist and author of note, who has spent years of his life traveling to far corners of the world, is attending the national conference of students which is being held here under the auspices of the Council of Christian Associations.

"The world is in need of a new discipline," Kennedy said. "Passions, hatred and other human emotions are merely the result of this lack of self control and as a partial result the world is often plunged into class wars which might be and should be settled in constructive thinking and not in controversial hatred."

Kennedy holds that youth gives place to youth and each generation after the age of adolescence becomes conservative in the way of its predecessor. He is of the opinion, however, that there can be an improved conservativeness, a more liberal way of thinking as time goes on.

According to Kennedy one of the fundamental causes of the recent coal strike in England was a lack of discipline on the part of both sides in the controversy.

"In this age of bewilderment and often times chaos," Kennedy stated, "the world has all the more need for religion."

FOUND LIVING IN ROOT CELLAR

SHELL SHOCKED PATIENT ESCAPED FROM ST. CLOUD HOSPITAL

Bemidji, Minn., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Found living in an abandoned root cellar where he had made himself comfortable despite the cold, Ralph E. Bryant, a patient in the United States Veterans' Bureau hospital at St. Cloud, was detained today for Stearns county authorities.

Bryant, who was shell shocked during the war, escaped from the hospital recently and was found here by a deputy sheriff. He will be returned to St. Cloud.

BROUGHT TO BRAINERD

Bemidji., Minn., Dec. 29.—Ralph Bryant, recently paroled from the United States Veterans Bureau hospital at St. Cloud, has been taken by a Crow Wing deputy to Brainerd, where he is said to be wanted.

MARTIAL LAW TO STOP FLOGGING BY HOODED MOBS

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 29.—(UP)—A declaration of martial law in The Tombs county to prevent flogging by hooded mobs was being considered today by Governor Clifford Walker.

The threat was accompanied by the governor's offer of a $1,000 reward for the first conviction in connection with the flogging of Wimberley E. Brown, Lyons attorney, who was kidnaped and beaten Christmas eve. Brown said he had been whipped because of his recent prosecution of a similar case.

FARM LAND IN TREND TO MORE STABILITY

AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT IN ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY

REDUCTIONS IN FARM MORTGAGE INTEREST, CREDIT SITUATION EASES

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29—Farms have decreased steadily in value since 1920, but now appear to be on a trend toward stability, the agriculture department announced today.

The average value of farm real estate per acre on March 1, 1926, was $76.47 compared with $107.80 on March 1, 1920, a decrease of nearly 30 per cent.

"There is no assurance, however, that the bottom has been reached," the department stated, adding that the rate of decline had been steadily lessening.

"Two factors which may help check further declines in farm values are announced, reductions in farm mortgage interest rates, possible further easing of the credit situation and the large supply of funds seeking employment in the investment market and the probability that in a number of areas the foreclosures and other forced liquidations have exerted most of their influences on values."

The heaviest declines in valuation occurred in grain and livestock states of the middle west. Mountain states and a few cotton states also reported heavy decreases.

In the northeast region, including the North Atlantic states and extending westward into Michigan and Wisconsin and southward into Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, farm lands declined comparatively little in value. Values have been comparatively steady in northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

BLACK HILLS SEEK TO HAVE COOLIDGE SPEND SUMMER THERE

Chadron, Neb., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The Black Hills of South Dakota feel certain that President Coolidge will be their guest next summer.

Although he declined to commit himself, it was understood by a delegation of business men from the Black Hills who called at the White House to personally invite the president to the Hills for his next vacation, that serious thought is being given the invitation.

Should Mr. Coolidge decide to accept the invitation, it is understood here that he plans to leave Washington shortly after June 1 and remain in the west about 10 weeks.

FARMER CUT OFF HEAD OF WIFE; PLEADS GUILTY

Burlington, Kan., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Jesse Reed, farmer, who virtually decapitated his wife with a razor, was under sentence of life imprisonment today, following his plea of guilty in district court here. Reed admitted the slaying and told officers he had brooded over fear of being killed after seeing a motion picture at a church entertainment in which the beheading of John the Baptist was portrayed.

THOUSANDS DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES

PROPERTY VALUED AT MILLIONS DESTROYED IN THE SOUTH

CITY OFFICIALS, RED CROSS, AMERICAN LEGION CARE FOR REFUGEES

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Little relief was in sight from the floods that have claimed 13 lives, driven thousands from their homes and destroyed property valued at millions in the south.

While municipal officials, the Red Cross and American Legion volunteers cared for homeless and destitute families in the stricken areas, warnings of continued flood conditions were issued from the weather bureau. Freezing weather that will slow up the discharge of waters from the hills into the Cumberland valley was said to be the main hope of checking the rise quickly and permitting the swollen river to return to its normal channel.

While the heaviest property damage was believed to have been suffered at Nashville, where crops, merchandise and household goods valued at millions have been destroyed, the greatest death toll is believed to have been in Arkansas. Six persons are reported to have been drowned in Arkansas, five in Mississippi and two in Tennessee.

Most of the deaths have been caused by motor cars skidding on water swept roads or being carried away by the force of the floods. Three of the victims were said to have drowned when skiffs capsized while they were attempting to escape from floods. The number of homeless in the southern flood districts has been roughly estimated at 10,000, although there are no definite figures available.

In the Tennessee basin of the Cumberland river, three small towns are completely inundated.

DOUBLE HANGING AT CHICAGO ON FRIDAY MORNING

Chicago, Dec. 29.—(UP)—A double hanging will occur here Friday morning unless two convicted murderers succeed in obtaining last minute stays of execution.

The men sentenced to die are James Gricius and Thomas McLane. Their death sentences followed pleas of guilty entered to charges of murder in connection with the deaths of Miss Mary Lang, Sunday school teacher, and her escort, Frederick Hein ,a Sunday school superintendent. The two men also are alleged to have killed Ludwig Rose, a taxicab driver, on the same evening.

Miss Lang and Hein were shot to death as they sat in an automobile in front of the former's home.

BELIEVE 'STRANGLER' RESPONSIBLE FOR THREE MURDERS

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Belief that a "strangler" may be responsible for three murders here in two days was expressed by police today following the slaying of Mrs. Germaine Harpin, 28, and her eight months old son Robert. Bodies of the two were found in an unused room in their home here last night. They had been strangled.

The body of Mrs. Bonnie Pace, 26, was found in her home early Monday. She had been choked to death.

ALBERT B. FALL CONTINUES IMPROVING

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, who is suffering from pneumonia here, continued to improve today to the extent that his physicians believe he will be out of danger in a few days.

A bulletin issued on Fall's condition expressed satisfaction at the patient's favorable progress and added that "everything points to a favorable outcome."

Washington, Dec. 29.—The state department is asking Admiral Julian Latimer, United States naval commander, to report more fully happenings in the Nicarguan civil war area, occupied by United States forces, so it can refute charges here and abroad of American imperialism and interference.

President Coolidge took a hand in the situation late yesterday by summoning Secretary Kellogg and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to discuss developments. At the same time Dr. T. S. The state department admitted it did not know whether Latimer had established a censorship, searched Sacasa liberal "government" residences at Puerto Cabezas or disarmed the liberal forces as reported from Nicaragua.

CRITICIZE THE USE OF AMERICAN MARINES

SEEKS TO EXTEND NEUTRAL ZONE

Managua, Nicaragua, Dec. 29. — Requests by President Diaz, head of the conservative government, for an extension of the neutral zone from Puerto Cabezas to other Pacific coast ports was being considered today by American authorities in Nicaragua. The Diaz government is recognized by the United States.

The United Press learned today Diaz plans to petition Admiral Julian Latimer, U. S. N., for extension of the neutral zone. It is said compliance with the request would amount to an embargo on importation of arms and ammunition to Nicaragua.

Continued losses of the conservative forces, who have been forced to retire to El Bluff, with consequent danger to American lives and property, was given by President Diaz as the reason for his request.

CLEARING, SANITATION AND PRELIMINARY WORK ALREADY BEGUN

Paris, Dec. 29.—(UP) — Harvey Firestone of the American Firestone Rubber Company, announced today that his concern will invest $100,000,000 in development of his recently acquired rubber properties in Liberia.

Firestone said the company was planning to develop the greatest rubber plantation in the world and hopes to smash the British monopoly on rubber within seven years.

A month ago the congress of the Liberian republic ratified a concession of 1,000,000 acres of rubber land at $1 an acre to the Firestone Company. It was understood clearing, sanitation and other preliminary work already has begun. The property is near Monroevia, the capital.

MODERN DISCIPLINE NEEDED IN WORLD

By CHARLES E. AHRENS

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 29—A modern discipline is needed to return the world from its bewilderment, G. A. Studdert Kennedy, London, England, told the United Press in an interview here today. Kennedy, a theologist and author of note, who has spent years of his life traveling to far corners of the world, is attending the national conference of students which is being held here under the auspices of the Council of Christian Associations.

"The world is in need of a new discipline," Kennedy said. "Passions, hatred and other human emotions are merely the result of this lack of self control and as a partial result the world is often plunged into class wars which might be and should be settled in constructive thinking and not in controversial hatred."

Kennedy holds that youth gives place to youth and each generation after the age of adolescence becomes conservative in the way of its predecessor. He is of the opinion, however, that there can be an improved conservativeness, a more liberal way of thinking as time goes on.

According to Kennedy one of the fundamental causes of the recent coal strike in England was a lack of discipline on the part of both sides in the controversy.

"In this age of bewilderment and often times chaos," Kennedy stated, "the world has all the more need for religion."

FOUND LIVING IN ROOT CELLAR

SHELL SHOCKED PATIENT ESCAPED FROM ST. CLOUD HOSPITAL

Bemidji, Minn., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Found living in an abandoned root cellar where he had made himself comfortable despite the cold, Ralph E. Bryant, a patient in the United States Veterans' Bureau hospital at St. Cloud, was detained today for Stearns county authorities.

Bryant, who was shell shocked during the war, escaped from the hospital recently and was found here by a deputy sheriff. He will be returned to St. Cloud.

BROUGHT TO BRAINERD

Bemidji., Minn., Dec. 29.—Ralph Bryant, recently paroled from the United States Veterans Bureau hospital at St. Cloud, has been taken by a Crow Wing deputy to Brainerd, where he is said to be wanted.

MARTIAL LAW TO STOP FLOGGING BY HOODED MOBS

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 29.—(UP)—A declaration of martial law in The Tombs county to prevent flogging by hooded mobs was being considered today by Governor Clifford Walker.

The threat was accompanied by the governor's offer of a $1,000 reward for the first conviction in connection with the flogging of Wimberley E. Brown, Lyons attorney, who was kidnaped and beaten Christmas eve. Brown said he had been whipped because of his recent prosecution of a similar case.

FARM LAND IN TREND TO MORE STABILITY

AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT IN ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY

REDUCTIONS IN FARM MORTGAGE INTEREST, CREDIT SITUATION EASES

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29—Farms have decreased steadily in value since 1920, but now appear to be on a trend toward stability, the agriculture department announced today.

The average value of farm real estate per acre on March 1, 1926, was $76.47 compared with $107.80 on March 1, 1920, a decrease of nearly 30 per cent.

"There is no assurance, however, that the bottom has been reached," the department stated, adding that the rate of decline had been steadily lessening.

"Two factors which may help check further declines in farm values are announced, reductions in farm mortgage interest rates, possible further easing of the credit situation and the large supply of funds seeking employment in the investment market and the probability that in a number of areas the foreclosures and other forced liquidations have exerted most of their influences on values."

The heaviest declines in valuation occurred in grain and livestock states of the middle west. Mountain states and a few cotton states also reported heavy decreases.

In the northeast region, including the North Atlantic states and extending westward into Michigan and Wisconsin and southward into Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, farm lands declined comparatively little in value. Values have been comparatively steady in northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

BLACK HILLS SEEK TO HAVE COOLIDGE SPEND SUMMER THERE

Chadron, Neb., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The Black Hills of South Dakota feel certain that President Coolidge will be their guest next summer.

Although he declined to commit himself, it was understood by a delegation of business men from the Black Hills who called at the White House to personally invite the president to the Hills for his next vacation, that serious thought is being given the invitation.

Should Mr. Coolidge decide to accept the invitation, it is understood here that he plans to leave Washington shortly after June 1 and remain in the west about 10 weeks.

FARMER CUT OFF HEAD OF WIFE; PLEADS GUILTY

Burlington, Kan., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Jesse Reed, farmer, who virtually decapitated his wife with a razor, was under sentence of life imprisonment today, following his plea of guilty in district court here. Reed admitted the slaying and told officers he had brooded over fear of being killed after seeing a motion picture at a church entertainment in which the beheading of John the Baptist was portrayed.

THOUSANDS DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES

PROPERTY VALUED AT MILLIONS DESTROYED IN THE SOUTH

CITY OFFICIALS, RED CROSS, AMERICAN LEGION CARE FOR REFUGEES

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Little relief was in sight from the floods that have claimed 13 lives, driven thousands from their homes and destroyed property valued at millions in the south.

While municipal officials, the Red Cross and American Legion volunteers cared for homeless and destitute families in the stricken areas, warnings of continued flood conditions were issued from the weather bureau. Freezing weather that will slow up the discharge of waters from the hills into the Cumberland valley was said to be the main hope of checking the rise quickly and permitting the swollen river to return to its normal channel.

While the heaviest property damage was believed to have been suffered at Nashville, where crops, merchandise and household goods valued at millions have been destroyed, the greatest death toll is believed to have been in Arkansas. Six persons are reported to have been drowned in Arkansas, five in Mississippi and two in Tennessee.

Most of the deaths have been caused by motor cars skidding on water swept roads or being carried away by the force of the floods. Three of the victims were said to have drowned when skiffs capsized while they were attempting to escape from floods. The number of homeless in the southern flood districts has been roughly estimated at 10,000, although there are no definite figures available.

In the Tennessee basin of the Cumberland river, three small towns are completely inundated.

DOUBLE HANGING AT CHICAGO ON FRIDAY MORNING

Chicago, Dec. 29.—(UP)—A double hanging will occur here Friday morning unless two convicted murderers succeed in obtaining last minute stays of execution.

The men sentenced to die are James Gricius and Thomas McLane. Their death sentences followed pleas of guilty entered to charges of murder in connection with the deaths of Miss Mary Lang, Sunday school teacher, and her escort, Frederick Hein ,a Sunday school superintendent. The two men also are alleged to have killed Ludwig Rose, a taxicab driver, on the same evening.

Miss Lang and Hein were shot to death as they sat in an automobile in front of the former's home.

BELIEVE 'STRANGLER' RESPONSIBLE FOR THREE MURDERS

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Belief that a "strangler" may be responsible for three murders here in two days was expressed by police today following the slaying of Mrs. Germaine Harpin, 28, and her eight months old son Robert. Bodies of the two were found in an unused room in their home here last night. They had been strangled.

The body of Mrs. Bonnie Pace, 26, was found in her home early Monday. She had been choked to death.

ALBERT B. FALL CONTINUES IMPROVING

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, who is suffering from pneumonia here, continued to improve today to the extent that his physicians believe he will be out of danger in a few days.

A bulletin issued on Fall's condition expressed satisfaction at the patient's favorable progress and added that "everything points to a favorable outcome."

CANTATA WAS WELL RENDERED

"King of Christmas" Presented Sunday at Swedish Bethany Church

MRS. P. G. FALLQUIST, DIRECTOR

Sunday School Program Monday Greeted by Large Attendance

The Swedish Bethany Cantata, "King of Christmas," which was presented Sunday was exceptionally well rendered and enjoyed by the packed house which greeted the performers. The soloists, the Misses Esther Fogelstrom and Carrie Erickson were in excellent voice and carried their parts with ability. Miss Jennie O. Wilson, of Minneapolis, the organist, delighted her hearers with her selections and also gave a piano number. Her playing was truly a feature of the evening. Much credit is due Mrs. P. G. Fallquist, the director, who prepared and presented the cantata.

The Sunday school program given by the children on Monday evening brought a record attendance to the church, standing room being at a premium. All the performers, young and old created a very favorable impression with their pieces and selections. Towards the close of the program, Oscar Swanson superintendent of the Sunday school and Albert O. Anderson, vice superintendent, were presented with appropriate remembrances in token of their services during the past year. Ten pupils, including Virginia, Byrtel, and Roger Erickson, Donald, Clyde and Helen Anderson, Eugene Swanson, Kenneth Anderson, Frank Anderson and Ellen Erickson were each presented with a box of chocolate bon bons for their perfect attendance record of the foregone year.

After the program every child was presented with a box of candy, apples were distributed and every student was presented with a book as a Christmas remembrance and in token of this attendance at Sunday school.

The Scouts of Brainerd will all want to turn out Friday morning for the big, all-city ski-hike to Marquis hill.

The Scouts should meet at the Court House at 9 o'clock Friday morning with skiis, plenty of warm clothing, a couple of husky sandwiches in their pockets, the corners filled in with little knick-knacks left over from Christmas, a good disposition, a desire to ski down an honest-to-goodness hill and not to be afraid of a moving picture camera which will be used on the trip.

According to Mr. Newton he is going to take moving pictures, which will be shown at a late date for a Scout Rally in Brainerd, of the spills, etc., that are taken on this hike. As practically every boy at some time has a desire to break into the movies, there will probably be a big gang out for this hike. Don't be bashful, come along, get in! We will shoot you and a couple of weeks later throw you on the screen. You will be delighted to see how you look in action.

We will return to Brainerd in time for supper.

OUTBREAK OF HOG CHOLERA

On Farm of Edward and Fred Wise, Two Miles West of Brainerd

25 HOGS IN HERD

One is Dead, 10 Are Too Sick to be Vaccinated and Others Are Isolated

One hog is dead, ten are too sick to be vaccinated and 14 have been put in isolation and vaccinated on the farm of Fred and Edward Wise, about two miles west of Brainerd near the junction of Highways No. 19 and 2, where hog cholera has broken out.

The disease was found by Dr. C. A. Nelson, veterinarian, Brainerd, who was called out to tend to sick hogs Saturday afternoon. Verification of the disease was made by E. A. Hewitt, assistant veterinarian of the University of Minnesota, Department of Agriculture ,to whom specimens have been submitted by Dr. Nelson.

The hogs who were not too sick have been vaccinated. Farmers throughout the county are urged to take precaution to prevent any general outbreak, and are requested to tie up dogs for the disease can be easily carried from one farm to another.

Dr. Nelson stated that he believed that the disease had been contracted from garbage of pork rind from cholera hogs secured in the city. The disease is only contagious to hogs btu may be carried in many different ways.

Quarantine notices have been placed in prominent places on the farm.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Gustave Stresemann

Politics are not only Foreign Minister Gustave Stresemann's vocation; they are also his hobby. He drinks, eats and lives politics. And yet he finds time for secondary interests. He cherishes a special fondness for miniatures of Napoleon and his villa abounds with souvenirs of the French conqueror. Aside from this, his leisure hours are devoted to the fine arts, notably to music.

He may often be seen at the opera and at concerts and his home is the meeting place of many artists, including exponents of ultra-modern tendencies. In music, however, his taste is classical and he loathes jazz. He is particularly proud of his talented oldest son, Wolfgang, who has already achieved striking success as a composer.

Although only 19, Wolfgang's first symphony was recently offered to the public here. A list of Stresemann's hobbies would be incomplete, however, unless it included brandy-and-soda and the more delicate wines of which the foreign minister is a temperate but enthusiastic admirer.

8 MEN, 1 WOMAN SENTENCED FOR ROBBING MAILS

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Sentence was pronounced on eight men and one woman who robbed a Union Pacific mail train near Rawlins, Wyo., last August, by Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy here today.

The sentences range from 1 to 27 years.

Assisted by Mail Clerk Jack Madigan, the robbers took nearly half a million dollars in registered mail. Madigan was sentenced to 25 years.

All but $500 of the stolen money was recovered.

1 KILLED, 1 HURT IN SHOOTING BRAWL

Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 29.—(UP)—John Shea of Chicago was killed and Leverne Johns of Platteville, Wis., was seriously wounded in a shooting match which resulted from a brawl at Black City, a notorious road house a short distance south of East Dubuque, Ill., early today.

Johns is in a critical condition in a Dubuque hospital. Milo Allegrette of Chicago is being held in the county jail at Galena charged with the shooting.

New York, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The United States was charged with failure to be true to its highest ideals in keeping out of the League of Nations by Elihu Root, in a speech accepting the $25,000 award of the Woodrow Wilson foundation at a dinner in his honor last night.

Action! The epic of the prize ring, set in the bold bad '80's of New York, when bare fists were in style. Made from Donn Byrne's lively story of the young Irish lad who meets a fascinating woman in a New York dive, and under her tutelage upsets the fighting dope of the time. Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 29.—(UP)—John Shea of Chicago was killed and Leverne Johns of Platteville, Wis., was seriously wounded in a shooting match which resulted from a brawl at Black City, a notorious road house a short distance south of East Dubuque, Ill., early today.

Johns is in a critical condition in a Dubuque hospital. Milo Allegrette of Chicago is being held in the county jail at Galena charged with the shooting.

New York, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The United States was charged with failure to be true to its highest ideals in keeping out of the League of Nations by Elihu Root, in a speech accepting the $25,000 award of the Woodrow Wilson foundation at a dinner in his honor last night.

READING THE CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY

A STUDY of the Congressional Directory, 69th Congress, second session December, 1926, is interesting and throws many sidelights. In reading the biographies one encounters the fact that many read like the obituaries ground out by the country press.

Just for a change, we should like to see Will Rogers elected a congressman and we know Bill would write an autobiography which would catch the browsing reader's instant attention.

Some of the biographies are laconic ones. For instance, "T. H. Caraway, Democrat, Jonesboro" uses just these five words to convey his life's history, and he's a senator from Arkansas at that.

George Huddlestone, representing the ninth district of Alabama, says he was a private soldier in the Spanish war, is a member of the Methodist church, Odd Fellows, Knight of Pythias, Masons and the Red Men. Senator Ralph Henry Cameron of Arizona was at one time a sheriff, and he built the Bright Angel trail into the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

Arthur Monroe Free, representative of California, mentions he is a past exalted ruler of San Jose Lodge No. 522 of the Elks. "Walter Franklin Lineberger, Republican, of Long Beach, Los Angeles County, Calif.," gives only these nine words in his biography. Lawrence Cowle Phipps, senator of Colorado, is donor of Agnes Memorial Sanatarium for treatment of tuberculosis. Congressman William Newell Vaile of Denver, among other activities, wrote a novel, "The Mystery of the Golconda," published by Doubleday-Page in 1925. The parents of Congressman Charles Bateman Timberlake of Sterling, Colorado, were Quakers. Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut was born in Hawaii and is the father of seven sons. "Senator Coleman DuPont, Republican, of Wilmington, Del., term of service expires March 4, 1931," used just these 13 words in his biography and he is one of the big men in the senate. Representative Herbert Jackson Drane of Lakeland, Florida, is a raiser of citrus fruits, but has never handed his constituents a lemon.

Congressman William David Upshaw of Georgia had his spine injured when he was 18, lay in bed seven years from the injury, wrote a book, later lectured and entered college when 31, aided other boys and girls, is active in many movements, and was elected to 66th congress.

Congressman Florence P. Kahn of San Francisco mentions being elected to succeed her husband, the late Hon. Julius Kahn, and of being reelected to the 70th congress.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas speaks of his early days as a reporter and his later years as a successful publisher.

By the time we got to page 41 in the book and had followed birth, life, marriage, pursuits, election and the majority of this and that legislator, the book began to pall. So we skipped to Minnesota where our U. S. Senators Shipstead and Schall are very economical in listing their accomplishments.

Senator Shipstead says: "Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, of Minneapolis, was born in the township of Burbank, Kandiyohi County, Minn., January 8, 1881."

Senator Schall says: "Thomas D. Schall, A. B., L. L. B., Republican, practicing lawyer, Minneapolis, Minn., residence Excelsior, Minn., (blind); lost sight through electric shock; served five terms in House of Representatives from tenth district, Minnesota; elected to the Senate November 4, 1924."

Our Harold Knutson of the Sixth District, gives a modest biography and states: "Harold Knutson, Republican, of St. Cloud, was raised on a farm; attended common and agricultural schools; learned printer's trade; is a newspaper man, having published Royalton Banner and Foley Independent; later was associate editor of St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press; president of Northern Minnesota Editorial Association 1910-11; owner and publisher of the Wadena Pioneer Journal; served in 65th, 66th, 67th and 68th Congresses; reelected to the 69th Congress."

BUILDING NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION

MANY editors have reported to Editor & Publisher of New York, in the issue of December 25, that the Hall-Mills murder case portrayal did not do much in the way of building up a circulation. The New York Evening Telegram reported some jumps on the big days of the trial, but in general, however, the case had no noticeable effect on their circulation.

The New York Evening World lost some subscribers. The New York Daily Mirror, the tabloid that revived the investigation leading to the trial, said that in its opinion readers got tired of the story.

Charles A. Flanagan, of the New York Times, said that he credited some of his newspaper's increase to the trial, but agreed that as a circulation-getter the case was nothing to brag about.

And that brings us to the point, as mentioned by the Editor & Publisher, if sensational murder trials no longer cause circulation figures to mount, what is good stimulation?

Perhaps one answer to the question may be found in the opinion of Francis Tietsort, scientific editor and aviation writer for the New York American.

"People today are crazy about scientific subjects," he declared in an interview this week. "I am convinced that a scientific story prominently displayed holds more reader-interest and sells more papers than murder trial sensations such as the Hall-Mills case produced.

"We are now living in the greatest scientific age since the world began. In the last 50 years more important scientific discoveries have been made than in all the 500,000 years supposed to represent the tenure of man's existence on earth.

"If editors wish to gain readers one of the best ways I know of is for them to play in murder trial type every new scientific discovery.

"Research workers in universities and the laboratories of industrial concerns are constantly turning up new inventions making life easier for the bulk of the people. For big news breaks, let the editors keep in touch with these sources."

The growth of interest in scientific matters no doubt results from the fact that every boy is posted in radio work and every man has a knowledge of automobile driving and possibly of his car's construction and improvement. We are getting to be more and more a nation of mechanical experts. Mother at home has any number of electrical devices to assist in her housework and takes deep interest in any new ideas to lighten her labors.

Our player-pianos, phonographs, windshield wipers, vacuum cleaners, Christmas tree lighting sets, electric toasters, gas ranges, washers, etc., etc., are all devices of a mechanical age, and it is no wonder, as reported by the scientific editor, that all America is interested in scientific subjects.

The United Press, in its news stories, features the progress of science in new fields of medicine, surgery, land and sea exploration, aerial, etc.

CHRISTMAS is essentially a child's holiday. If you have none of your own to make happy, adopt some lonely little one.

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"IF YOU WANT A THING DONE WELL, DO IT YOURSELF"

But if you want a thing done better, learn to pick a man who can do it that way.

Modern business is so complex that no one can know all lines and departments superlatively well.

It is as truly a mark of business genius to know when to surrender responsibility as when to assert authority.

A great railroad recently in need of a new president elected a banker to that position. He knew nothing about automatic signals, bridge building or rolling stock. But he knew how to pick men who did know these things. And having them in his employ he had time to devote to the financing of the road, a thing about which the mechanical operators knew nothing.

The good executive manages men, not money or machines. He knows enough about human nature to be able to get the best efforts, the most enthusiastic interest and the most loyal service out of his men.

It is more important to get men to work up to capacity than to run machines at high speed. Big businesses are built, not on horse power, but on man power.

The success of Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, John Wanamaker, Marshall Field and every other great industrial or business leader is explained by his knowledge of men rather than his exhaustive knowledge of the business and uniform expertness in all its departments.

If you want a thing done the best it can be done, pick the man who can do it best and make him feel that his best is appreciated.

J. A. Fitzpatrick the well known yard master in this city has resigned his position and will leave in a few days for the coast where he expects to make his home in the future. This step was decided upon on account of Mr. Fitzpatrick's friends but it came as a great surprise. Charles Remus of Superior has been appointed to succeed Mr. Fitzpatrick in this city and arrived this afternoon from that place to assume his duties. Mr. Fitzpatrick has made many friends in the city who will regret to see him leave.

Miss Gladys Kreatz entertained a number of her friends Thurgday afternoon, the occasion being the celebration of Miss Glady's success in winning the stove in the recent contest. A very enjoyable time was reported. The following are those who were present: Misses Eunice O'Connor, Isabelle O'Connor, Annie Mahlum, Ethel Kelleher, Morrell Keileher, Mabelle Smith, Genevieve Carver, Julia O'Brien, Ethel Angel, Antionette Peterson, Helen Peterson, Alice Walker, Grace Carlson, and Myra Drysdale.

Landlord Swanson of the Swanson Hotel has just put in a range which is the largest in the city. It is eight feet long and he says he can now accomodate any number of people.

The Northern Pacific is making arrangements to pump its own water for use in the shops, the depot and the sanatarium in the city and to this end many improvements are being made at the shops in order to get the water system established. Some time ago two wells were dug at the shops and a few days ago, Carpenter Foreman W. J. McAdams of Duluth started the erection of two mammoth tanks. The tanks will be 100,000 gallons capacity and will be so constructed that the pressure will be adequate to supply the company with all the water that is needed in the various departments.

FOREST FIRES COST STATE $1,750,000 IN PAST TWO YEARS

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Forest fires cost Minnesota approximately $1,750,000 during the last two years, according to the biennial report of Grover M. Conzet, state forestry commissioner, to Governor Theodore Christianson.

Conzet estimated that forest fires had done damage of $1,674,199 in the two years, besides costing the state $68,742 for temporary labor in fighting such fires.

The area burned over, the report stated, was 868,796 acres, which include peat and brush fires.

There was a marked falling off in forest fire damage the last year as compared with 1925, the figures being $1,014,364 in 1925 as against $69,835 in 1926.

In spite of the fact that there were very few fires reported this past fall, Conzet reports, the number reported in 1926 was larger than in 1925, the figures being 1,538 and 1,349, respectively.

"Although the late summer fire season was of small consequence," Conzet reports, "except for peat fires, the spring fires in recent years have been the worst ever experienced. The damage to mature forests was small, but the damage to farm buildings young timber growth and wild game was serious."

The effective operation of the state's drainage ditch system and greatly increased cut-over and burnt over area have helped hold down the number and extent of forest fires, according to the report, while the forest fire hazard has likewise been increased by the good roads system, which permits easy access to tourists to the timbered country.

Increased use by smokers of cigarets as against pipes and cigars is also pointed out as increasing the fire hazard.

Careless smokers are held accountable in the report for no less than 387 forest fires during the two-year period.

Other causes of fires are enumerated as follows: meadow burning, 457; land clearing, 346; fishermen, 129; camp fires, 70; unknown causes 451.

The report highly commends the railroad companies, lumber companies, township and village authorities for hearty co-operation in assisting not only to keep the fire hazard down to a minimum, but in helping to fight fires.

During the last year the railroad companies employed 103 patrolmen during the forest fire season, the report states, and they have generally taken care of all fires originating on railroad right-of-ways, besides extinguishing many fires starting elsewhere but headed for railroad property.

Townships in the timber area last year employed about 650 fire wardens, according to Conzet's report, to issue burning permits and assist in suppressing fires. The amount appropriated by townships for this purpose has averaged about $120,000 annually for the last five years, it is reported.

Commissioner Conzet states in his report that he does not advocate any material changes in state laws relative to operations of his department, but suggests the advisability of changing the opening of the trout fishing season from April 15, as now provided, to about June 1, as a further determent to forest fires.

Miss Gladys Kreatz entertained a number of her friends Thurgday afternoon, the occasion being the celebration of Miss Glady's success in winning the stove in the recent contest. A very enjoyable time was reported. The following are those who were present: Misses Eunice O'Connor, Isabelle O'Connor, Annie Mahlum, Ethel Kelleher, Morrell Keileher, Mabelle Smith, Genevieve Carver, Julia O'Brien, Ethel Angel, Antionette Peterson, Helen Peterson, Alice Walker, Grace Carlson, and Myra Drysdale.

Landlord Swanson of the Swanson Hotel has just put in a range which is the largest in the city. It is eight feet long and he says he can now accomodate any number of people.

The Northern Pacific is making arrangements to pump its own water for use in the shops, the depot and the sanatarium in the city and to this end many improvements are being made at the shops in order to get the water system established. Some time ago two wells were dug at the shops and a few days ago, Carpenter Foreman W. J. McAdams of Duluth started the erection of two mammoth tanks. The tanks will be 100,000 gallons capacity and will be so constructed that the pressure will be adequate to supply the company with all the water that is needed in the various departments.

FOREST FIRES COST STATE $1,750,000 IN PAST TWO YEARS

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Forest fires cost Minnesota approximately $1,750,000 during the last two years, according to the biennial report of Grover M. Conzet, state forestry commissioner, to Governor Theodore Christianson.

Conzet estimated that forest fires had done damage of $1,674,199 in the two years, besides costing the state $68,742 for temporary labor in fighting such fires.

The area burned over, the report stated, was 868,796 acres, which include peat and brush fires.

There was a marked falling off in forest fire damage the last year as compared with 1925, the figures being $1,014,364 in 1925 as against $69,835 in 1926.

In spite of the fact that there were very few fires reported this past fall, Conzet reports, the number reported in 1926 was larger than in 1925, the figures being 1,538 and 1,349, respectively.

"Although the late summer fire season was of small consequence," Conzet reports, "except for peat fires, the spring fires in recent years have been the worst ever experienced. The damage to mature forests was small, but the damage to farm buildings young timber growth and wild game was serious."

The effective operation of the state's drainage ditch system and greatly increased cut-over and burnt over area have helped hold down the number and extent of forest fires, according to the report, while the forest fire hazard has likewise been increased by the good roads system, which permits easy access to tourists to the timbered country.

Increased use by smokers of cigarets as against pipes and cigars is also pointed out as increasing the fire hazard.

Careless smokers are held accountable in the report for no less than 387 forest fires during the two-year period.

Other causes of fires are enumerated as follows: meadow burning, 457; land clearing, 346; fishermen, 129; camp fires, 70; unknown causes 451.

The report highly commends the railroad companies, lumber companies, township and village authorities for hearty co-operation in assisting not only to keep the fire hazard down to a minimum, but in helping to fight fires.

During the last year the railroad companies employed 103 patrolmen during the forest fire season, the report states, and they have generally taken care of all fires originating on railroad right-of-ways, besides extinguishing many fires starting elsewhere but headed for railroad property.

Townships in the timber area last year employed about 650 fire wardens, according to Conzet's report, to issue burning permits and assist in suppressing fires. The amount appropriated by townships for this purpose has averaged about $120,000 annually for the last five years, it is reported.

Commissioner Conzet states in his report that he does not advocate any material changes in state laws relative to operations of his department, but suggests the advisability of changing the opening of the trout fishing season from April 15, as now provided, to about June 1, as a further determent to forest fires.

BRILLIANT BASKETBALL IS REVEALED

WHIZ BANGS WIN BY 31-16 SCORE FROM RAINBOWS

ENGBRETSON AND MURRAY TIED FOR SCORING HONORS WITH 11 POINTS

VISITORS SHOW DAZZLING SHORT PASS ATTACK IN CLOSING MINUTES

Four hundred basketball fans got their several eyes full of good basketball last night when the Whiz Bangs, world touring players from Minneapolis, defeated the Rainbows 31 to 16, displaying a brilliant short pass attack in the closing minutes, which, coupled with some clever dribbling and feinting, netted an even dozen points in the last period, after a poor start which lasted throughout the first three quarters of the game, the Rainbows playing their opponents even for that length of time..

Showing an abundance of endurance, the Whiz Bangs unleashed their powers toward the end of the game, and the tiring Rainbows failed to cope successfully with them. Every man on the team was a high class artist. Norton did not live up to his reputation, missing shot after shot at the basket, connecting with only two during the evening's pastime. Wade played a fine, fast floor game, while Murray, Nordquist and Heller showed good form, each man on the team scoring at least two baskets.

Scoring honors for the evening rested in a tie between Engbretson of the Rainbows and Murray, center of the Whiz Bangs. Each scored five field goals and one free throw. For the Rainbows, Ericsson and Beresford netted one goal each, and Welsh scored a free throw for the other point made by the locals.

Engbretson played one of the finest games of his career. He gave the entire assemblage a thrill by sinking three field goals in rapid succession before the game was two minutes old, putting his team in the lead, 6 to 0. He was all over the floor, breaking up opposing plays, flashing into openings, and marking himself as a genuine basketball player.

Ericsson kept the Whiz Bangs going by his fast floor work, speeding up their play continually, breaking through on the passes. He had tough luck on several shots near the goal. Beresford played a fine game, his height giving him control of the tip-off most of the time, and his long reach snaring the ball out of the hands of the visitors often.

The guards, Welsh and Fitzsimmons, played two whales of a game. They guarded their posts well, keeping their opponents on their toes throughout.

The Whiz Bangs should have rolled up a much higher score than they did. Time after time they had the ball under the basket and failed in their attempts at the goal. Murray was perhaps the worst offender in this respect, missing at least a dozen easy shots from near the goal.

It was a colorful crowd that sat in the bleachers watching the game, all the stands being well filled. It was the largest crowd seen in Brainerd attending an independent game. The teams made a pretty picture on the court, the Rainbows in their green outfits contrasting with the Whiz Bangs in the deep red uniforms.

Captain Billy Fawcett came down from Breezy Point with a party of spectators to see his team in action, and they occupied places of honor in the middle of the front stands. In the party were Captain and Mrs. Fawcett, Roy Johnson, superintendent; C. W. Henderson, executive clerk, and others.

Buster Lowe refereed the game, and handled it in his usual impartial and efficient manner.

High School 8, Alumni 5

In the preliminary game, the high school team defeated the Alumni by a score of 8 to 5. The game was not up to the standard usually displayed by the high school, the players missing frequently on short shots, and not seeming to get well started on their passing game.

Fitzharris scored two field goals and two free throws for the high school, while Guin made one basket. For the Alumni, Avery made two field goals, while Marshall contributed a free throw. Wise was in much of the play, mixing in well on the work of the team.

Ohio State to Open New Michigan Field

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, announces that Ohio State will be the Wolverines' opponent in the dedication of the new Michigan stadium on October 22, 1927. Michigan had hoped to have Harvard for its dedicatory foe, but on the Crimson's refusal to schedule the game, Yost offered the honor to Ohio State who were helped by the Wolverines when the Big Horseshoe in Columbus was dedicated in 1922.

Work on the Michigan stadium is being rushed and the big bowl that will seat 70,000 will be ready by next September.

Sargent Given Watch

The Professional Golfers' association will hold its 1927 championship tournament at the Cedar Crest Country club of Dallas, Texas, early next November.

Delegates from 22 districts of the association participated in the balloting on the selection of the course, which will take the title event to the South for the first time.

Alex Piere, of Chicago, was elected to succeed George Sargent (shown in the photograph), of Columbus, as head of the association. Sargent's retirement after six years as president was accompanied by presentation to him of a platinum watch.

Girls of Chili Ardent Devotees of Athletics

Casting aside the traditional Latin ideas of feminine dignity the girls of Chili are now manifesting great interest in sports and have organized a number of athletic clubs in the larger cities of the country. Basket ball and tennis, as well as track and field events, are among the more vigorous activities in which Chilian girls are now participating.

A few years ago Chilian girls read with awe and amazement of the athletic accomplishments of their American sisters in the United States and gossiped disdainfully among themselves about how masculine the American woman is tending to become. But since then sports have been creeping into the country little by little until today the Chilian girls are accepting them as essential to their physical charm and health.

Girl athletics were first introduced by means of tennis and golf, which naturally carried with them a certain social prestige. Later the senoritas commenced to take interest in swimming.

DISCUSS MANY CHANGES IN FOOTBALL PLAY

COACHES AND ATHLETIC DIRECTORS OF UNIVERSITIES MEET AT NEW YORK

IS THE COLLEGE SPORT BEING COMMERCIALIZED IS UPPERMOST QUESTION

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 29. — Coincident with discussion of possible technical changes in football, coaches and athletic directors of leading universities meeting here this week are faced with suggestions to minimize the importance of football in collegiate life.

Whether the sport is commercialized is a question sharing unwilling attention with such problems as whether the huddle and shift plays should be eliminated.

Recent charges by the presidents of West Virginia Wesleyan and Union College that amateur football is tending more and more toward the professional class has reawakened interest in the problem.

Dr. Jesse F. Williams, professor of physical education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, chairman of a special committee, has made recommendations to the Society of Physical Directors of Education which provide severe curtailment of intercollegiate athletics.

Dr. Williams' survey was spread over the three year period. His most provocative proposals follow:

That coaches be made members of faculties.

That college presidents and their administrative staffs be given complete control of athletics.

That athletics be conducted according to a prepared budget.

That intercollegiate contests between freshmen be prohibited.

That all scholarships to athletes be made public.

That varsity participation be limited to juniors and seniors.

Dr. Williams said he believed, however, that the college game had not been swayed extensively by professionalism. His recommendations for the most part, he explained, were prompted by the desire to have more and more students engage in varsity play.

The committee, headed by Dr. Williams, found that 14 worthy objectives, such as team play, clean living, discipline and hard work were gained by football players.

The meeting today of the American Football Coaches Association probably will engender discussion of the proposed new shift rule, which would necessitate a two second stop on all plays in which a player or players move from one position to another.

Although the coaches, in favoring the regulation, cannot make it gridiron law, their judgment usually finds favor with the intercollegiate rules committee, which will make the final decision.

Effect of such a ruling would be drastic, even more so than a similar rule proposed by the Western Conference.

The latter would apply only to the so-called shift plays while the suggestion made here would also apply to the flying end, the decoy back and virtually would eliminate the huddle system of calling signals.

HARD TO PICK OUTSTANDING STARS OF 1926

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 29.—After a year which by necessity must be recorded as the greatest and most successful in the history of sports, it is almost impossible to pick out the outstanding athlete or athletes.

There were great stars on every field, great teams in every game and records galore marked up as goals to the ambitious this year but it cannot be disputed violently that the following list includes history makers of 1926:

Gene Tunney, Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, Miss Gertrude Ederle, Bobby Jones, Rene Lacoste.

The ranking is made from the standpoint of international importance and prominence.

There can be no doubt that Babe Ruth was one of the biggest national heroes but talking to an Englishman, a Frenchman or a German about his achievements you would have to explain that Babe Ruth is a ball player and you might have to explain what baseball is.

The Babe has international fame but it is the result of the $52,000 a year salary that he draws more than any general recognition of what he gets it for.

You do not have to identify Gene Tunney as being a boxer, Mlle. Lenglen as a tennis player, Gertrude Ederle as the first girl to swim across the English Channel, Bobby Jones as a golfer or Lacoste as a tennis star.

Their names are bywords around their world and their records are records of world wide familiarity. For that reason they have been picked out as the outstanding stars of 1926.

Tunney did more than attract the attention of the whole world when he won the heavyweight championship of the world from Jack Dempsey.

From an international point of view it was a victory of far more importance than those scored by Corbett over Sullivan, Johnson over Jeffries, Willard over Johnson and Dempsey over Willard.

It was more important because Dempsey was familiarly known in Europe and Tunney was also, through his foreign service with the marines and his performances in the army boxing tournaments on the other side.

Tunney's victory also introduced a "high brow" in the list of heavyweight champions. There was "Gentleman Jim" Corbett before him but Corbett never wore a hat as high as Tunney and never used the five dollar words that are so prominent in the vocabulary of the current champion.

Historically the Dempsey-Tunney fight attracted more notice even than the memorable Dempsey-Carpentier fight because it drew a new record of 133,000 and gate receipts of more than two million dollars.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen became one of the headliners of the year, when she defeated Miss Helen Wills, the young American champion, in a Riviera match that aroused the United States to the highest peak of interest.

Mlle. Lenglen also kept the Queen of England waiting thirty minutes to see her play at Wimbledon and then had a stroke of temperament and withdrew from the tournament.

She was most responsible too in contributing to the history of tennis by leading a movement to establish professional tennis, a campaign started by C. C. Pyle, Red Grange's manager, and joined by Miss Mary K. Browne and Vincent Richards, who would have been ranked as the No. 1 American player if he had not turned professional.

The act of Richards in turning professional probably will have an effect on future history of international tennis as it is very likely that the American team, without him, will lose the Davis Cup to France this year and it will result in the first victory of a Latin nation in the Davis Cup series.

Rene Lacoste, the young French soldier, held the spotlight as being the star of a French tennis troupe that made a most emphatic movement toward world supremacy in tennis.

The French team, for the first time in the history of tennis, furnished the finalists in the Paris hard court championships, the British championships at Wimbledon and the American nationals at Forest Hills.

Lacoste won the American indoor and outdoor championships and made a little bit of history when he succeeded Bill Tilden, who had reigned for seven years, as the world's singles champion.

Gertrude Ederle made history and attracted the comment of the entire world when she succeeded in swimming across the English Channel.

Mme. Mille Corson succeeded later in duplicating the feat and became the first mother to make the swim but Miss Ederle was first and the circumstances which surrounded her successful effort and the fact that she bettered all previous time records made her the outstanding figure in channel swims.

STORMY PETREL OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL

BROADCASTS DENIAL THAT HE WAS PAID $20,000 FOR LETTERS

HINTS AT BREACH OF CONFIDENCE MAKING PUBLIC HIS "REVELATIONS"

Fresno, Cal., Dec. 29. — (UP) — Dutch Leonard again today became the center of interest in the Cobb-Speaker baseball scandal through his denial that he had been paid $20,000 or any other sum for letters or information concerning the "thrown game" of 1919.

Leonard in his statement last night hinted at a breach of confidence concerning his "revelations," saying he had understood from Judge Landis that there would be no publicity connected with any statement he might make regarding Cobb and Speaker. He charged Landis had broken the "agreement."

"I feel that at this time because of certain misstatements and various versions of this affair, I should emphatically set right the minds of the public on several points at issue," Leonard said.

"When I presented a claim against the Detroit baseball club in Chicago, for June, 1926, to the proper authorities for damages sustained for loss of salary, those authorities after a full hearing, determined my claim was just and valid and settled the full amount.

"I received money from the Detroit baseball club for this claim only. I never received any money directly or indirectly for any letter or any information in my possession."

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29. — Tris Speaker promised to make public today what action he and Ty Cobb will take to clear their names of stigma placed upon them by the recent baseball scandal.

Speaker and Cobb, together with the former Indian leader's legal counsel, William H. Boyd, spent all day yesterday and most of last night in a conference to decide what legal action should be started to refute the allegations of Dutch Leonard, who charged them with conspiring to throw a game between Detroit and Cleveland in September, 1919.

At the same time it was announced that Cobb's personal attorney James Murfin of Detroit, would arrive here today from the Michigan city to look after the interests of the former manager of the Tigers.

There was considerable speculation here today as to what the pair intended to do. Various rumors were current predicting federal libel and slander suits, injunctions to restrain Commissioner Landis and others from preventing Cobb and Speaker entering organized baseball again and other legal steps.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—After announcing last night that he would make a public statement at 10 o'clock this morning on what action he would take to clear his name in the baseball scandal, Tris Speaker today told newspapermen that he had changed his mind and would have no announcement to make.

The reporters gathered at the offices of William H. Boyd, Speaker's attorney, to get the "big story" and were turned away without an inkling as to what the former Indian manager and Ty Cobb, former leader of the Detroit Tigers, will do by way of legal retaliation on charges made against them.

Boyd announced that no further action was to be taken until Cobb had conferred with his attorney in Detroit.

"Ty is leaving on the noon train for Detroit," Boyd said. "He will seek the advice of his lawyer, Judge J. C. Murfin, and later I expect Murfin and myself will discuss the situation and decided what to advise our clients."

High School 8, Alumni 5

In the preliminary game, the high school team defeated the Alumni by a score of 8 to 5. The game was not up to the standard usually displayed by the high school, the players missing frequently on short shots, and not seeming to get well started on their passing game.

Fitzharris scored two field goals and two free throws for the high school, while Guin made one basket. For the Alumni, Avery made two field goals, while Marshall contributed a free throw. Wise was in much of the play, mixing in well on the work of the team.

High School—Orth, Wise, rf; Fitzharris, lf; Guin, c; DeRocher, rg; Lowe, Barnes, lg.

Alumni—Marshall, rf; Avery, lf; Whitlock, Eckholm, c; Lawrenz, Dieckhaus, rg; Tribur, Heikkinen, lg.

Score at first half—Alumni, 5; H. S., 1.

FIGHT RESULTS

Chicago—Ray Rychell and Midget Smith fought 10 rounds to a draw. Both are Chicagoans.

Chicago—Joey Clein, Milwaukee, lost to Harry Lenard, Chicago, 10 rounds, decision.

Chicago—Harry Forbes, Chicago, won from Earl McArthur, Sioux City, 10 rounds, decision.

Ohio State to Open New Michigan Field

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, announces that Ohio State will be the Wolverines' opponent in the dedication of the new Michigan stadium on October 22, 1927. Michigan had hoped to have Harvard for its dedicatory foe, but on the Crimson's refusal to schedule the game, Yost offered the honor to Ohio State who were helped by the Wolverines when the Big Horseshoe in Columbus was dedicated in 1922.

Work on the Michigan stadium is being rushed and the big bowl that will seat 70,000 will be ready by next September.

Sargent Given Watch

The Professional Golfers' association will hold its 1927 championship tournament at the Cedar Crest Country club of Dallas, Texas, early next November.

Delegates from 22 districts of the association participated in the balloting on the selection of the course, which will take the title event to the South for the first time.

Alex Piere, of Chicago, was elected to succeed George Sargent (shown in the photograph), of Columbus, as head of the association. Sargent's retirement after six years as president was accompanied by presentation to him of a platinum watch.

Girls of Chili Ardent Devotees of Athletics

Casting aside the traditional Latin ideas of feminine dignity the girls of Chili are now manifesting great interest in sports and have organized a number of athletic clubs in the larger cities of the country. Basket ball and tennis, as well as track and field events, are among the more vigorous activities in which Chilian girls are now participating.

A few years ago Chilian girls read with awe and amazement of the athletic accomplishments of their American sisters in the United States and gossiped disdainfully among themselves about how masculine the American woman is tending to become. But since then sports have been creeping into the country little by little until today the Chilian girls are accepting them as essential to their physical charm and health.

Girl athletics were first introduced by means of tennis and golf, which naturally carried with them a certain social prestige. Later the senoritas commenced to take interest in swimming

Gypsies

So many opportunities for light work at good pay may be the reason for the disappearance of the familiar and colorful rovers known as gypsies. Although Rumania still has 200,000 of them, America is estimated to have fewer than 2,000.

DISCUSS MANY CHANGES IN FOOTBALL PLAY

COACHES AND ATHLETIC DIRECTORS OF UNIVERSITIES MEET AT NEW YORK

IS THE COLLEGE SPORT BEING COMMERCIALIZED IS UPPERMOST QUESTION

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 29. — Coincident with discussion of possible technical changes in football, coaches and athletic directors of leading universities meeting here this week are faced with suggestions to minimize the importance of football in collegiate life.

Whether the sport is commercialized is a question sharing unwilling attention with such problems as whether the huddle and shift plays should be eliminated.

Recent charges by the presidents of West Virginia Wesleyan and Union College that amateur football is tending more and more toward the professional class has reawakened interest in the problem.

Dr. Jesse F. Williams, professor of physical education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, chairman of a special committee, has made recommendations to the Society of Physical Directors of Education which provide severe curtailment of intercollegiate athletics.

Dr. Williams' survey was spread over the three year period. His most provocative proposals follow:

That coaches be made members of faculties.

That college presidents and their administrative staffs be given complete control of athletics.

That athletics be conducted according to a prepared budget.

That intercollegiate contests between freshmen be prohibited.

That all scholarships to athletes be made public.

That varsity participation be limited to juniors and seniors.

Dr. Williams said he believed, however, that the college game had not been swayed extensively by professionalism. His recommendations for the most part, he explained, were prompted by the desire to have more and more students engage in varsity play.

The committee, headed by Dr. Williams, found that 14 worthy objectives, such as team play, clean living, discipline and hard work were gained by football players.

The meeting today of the American Football Coaches Association probably will engender discussion of the proposed new shift rule, which would necessitate a two second stop on all plays in which a player or players move from one position to another.

Although the coaches, in favoring the regulation, cannot make it gridiron law, their judgment usually finds favor with the intercollegiate rules committee, which will make the final decision.

Effect of such a ruling would be drastic, even more so than a similar rule proposed by the Western Conference.

The latter would apply only to the so-called shift plays while the suggestion made here would also apply to the flying end, the decoy back and virtually would eliminate the huddle system of calling signals.

Yes and Nay

Until the middle of the Sixteenth century the words "yea" and "nay" were used to express simple affirmative or negative, "yes" and "no" being employed when greater emphasis was needed. "Yes," it seems, came to us as an abbreviation of "yea-so!"

HARD TO PICK OUTSTANDING STARS OF 1926

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 29.—After a year which by necessity must be recorded as the greatest and most successful in the history of sports, it is almost impossible to pick out the outstanding athlete or athletes.

There were great stars on every field, great teams in every game and records galore marked up as goals fo the ambitious this year but it cannot be disputed violently that the following list includes history makers of 1926:

Gene Tunney, Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, Miss Gertrude Ederle, Bobby Jones, Rene Lacoste.

The ranking is made from the standpoint of international importance and prominence.

There can be no doubt that Babe Ruth was one of the biggest national heroes but talking to an Englishman, a Frenchman or a German about his achievements you would have to explain that Babe Ruth is a ball player and you might have to explain what baseball is.

The Babe has international fame but it is the result of the $52,000 a year salary that he draws more than any general recognition of what he gets it for.

You do not have to identify Gene Tunney as being a boxer, Mlle. Lenglen as a tennis player, Gertrude Ederle as the first girl to swim across the English Channel, Bobby Jones as a golfer or Lacoste as a tennis star.

Their names are bywords around their world and their records are recods of world wide familiarity. For that reason they have been picked out as the outstanding stars of 1926.

Tunney did more than attract the attention of the whole world when he won the heavyweight championship of the world from Jack Dempsey.

From an international point of view it was a victory of far more importance than those scored by Corbett over Sullivan, Johnson over Jeffries, Willard over Johnson and Dempsey over Willard.

It was more important because Dempsey was familiarly known in Europe and Tunney was also, through his foreign service with the marines and his performances in the army boxing tournaments on the other side.

Tunney's victory also introduced a "high brow" in the list of heavyweight champions. There was "Gentleman Jim" Corbett before him but Corbett never wore a hat as high as Tunney and never used the five dollar words that are so prominent in the vocabulary of the current champion.

Historically the Dempsey-Tunney fight attracted more notice even than the memorable Dempsey-Carpentier fight because it drew a new record of 133,000 and gate receipts of more than two million dollars.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen became one of the headliners of the year, when she defeated Miss Helen Wills, the young American champion, in a Riviera match that aroused the United States to the highest peak of interest.

Mlle. Lenglen also kept the Queen of England waiting thirty minutes to see her play at Wimbledon and then had a stroke of temperament and withdrew from the tournament.

She was most responsible too in contributing to the history of tennis by leading a movement to establish professional tennis, a campaign started by C. C. Pyle, Red Grange's manager, and joined by Miss Mary K. Browne and Vincent Richards, who would have been ranked as the No. 1 American player if he had not turned professional.

The act of Richards in turning professional probably will have an effect on future history of international tennis as it is very likely that the American team, without him, will lose the Davis Cup to France this year and it will result in the first victory of a Latin nation in the Davis Cup series.

Rene Lacoste, the young French soldier, held the spotlight as being the star of a French tennis troupe that made a most emphatic movement toward world supremacy in tennis.

The French team, for the first time in the history of tennis, furnished the finalists in the Paris hard court championships, the British championships at Wimbledon and the American nationals at Forest Hills.

Lacoste won the American indoor and outdoor championships and made a little bit of history when he succeeded Bill Tilden, who had reigned for seven years, as the world's singles champion.

Gertrude Ederle made history and attracted the comment of the entire world when she succeeded in swimming across the English Channel.

Mme. Mille Corson succeeded later in duplicating the feat and became the first mother to make the swim but Miss Ederle was first and the circumstances which surrounded her successful effort and the fact that she bettered all previous time records made her the outstanding figure in channel swims.

STORMY PETREL OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL

BROADCASTS DENIAL THAT HE WAS PAID $20,000 FOR LETTERS

HINTS AT BREACH OF CONFIDENCE MAKING PUBLIC HIS "REVELATIONS"

Fresno, Cal., Dec. 29. — (UP) — Dutch Leonard again today became the center of interest in the Cobb-Speaker baseball scandal through his denial that he had been paid $20,000 or any other sum for letters or information concerning the "thrown game" of 1919.

Leonard in his statement last night hinted at a breach of confidence concerning his "revelations," saying he had understood from Judge Landis that there would be no publicity connected with any statement he might make regarding Cobb and Speaker. He charged Landis had broken the "agreement."

"I feel that at this time because of certain misstatements and various versions of this affair, I should emphatically set right the minds of the public on several points at issue," Leonard said.

"When I presented a claim against the Detroit baseball club in Chicago, for June, 1926, to the proper authorities for damages sustained for loss of salary, those authorities after a full hearing, determined my claim was just and valid and settled the full amount.

"I received money from the Detroit baseball club for this claim only. I never received any money directly or indirectly for any letter or any information in my possession."

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29. — Tris Speaker promised to make public today what action he and Ty Cobb will take to clear their names of stigma placed upon them by the recent baseball scandal.

Speaker and Cobb, together with the former Indian leader's legal counsel, William H. Boyd, spent all day yesterday and most of last night in a conference to decide what legal action should be started to refute the allegations of Dutch Leonard, who charged them with conspiring to throw a game between Detroit and Cleveland in September, 1919.

At the same time it was announced that Cobb's personal attorney James Murfin of Detroit, would arrive here today from the Michigan city to look after the interests of the former manager of the Tigers.

There was considerable speculation here today as to what the pair intended to do. Various rumors were current predicting federal libel and slander suits, injunctions to restrain Commissioner Landis and others from preventing Cobb and Speaker entering organized baseball again and other legal steps.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—After announcing last night that he would make a public statement at 10 o'clock this morning on what action he would take to clear his name in the baseball scandal, Tris Speaker today told newspapermen that he had changed his mind and would have no announcement to make.

The reporters gathered at the offices of William H. Boyd, Speaker's attorney, to get the "big story" and were turned away without an inkling as to what the former Indian manager and Ty Cobb, former leader of the Detroit Tigers, will do by way of legal retaliation on charges made against them.

Boyd announced that no further action was to be taken until Cobb had conferred with his attorney in Detroit.

"Ty is leaving on the noon train for Detroit," Boyd said. "He will seek the advice of his lawyer, Judge J. C. Murfin, and later I expect Murfin and myself will discuss the situation and decided what to advise our clients."

Officials Declare Intention of Making Brainerd Its Headquarters

SEEK COOPERATION

Each Individual in City Urged to Link With Train of Progress

Through the cooperation of every individual in the city, officials have arranged to have the Prosperity Special, dean of trains of progress tie up in Brainerd.

An effort is now being made to secure Brainerd as its definite headquarters. This can only be attained through the whole hearted support of each person in the city for unless this is done the officials may feel inclined to make the city just one of its brief stopping places.

Brainerd, the city attraction of the playground of the 10,000 lakes is well adapted for the headquarters of the Prosperity Special. Its stores carry a complete line of goods of every description and the store owners and employees are most cordial in presenting their line of goods.

To emphasize the need for a greater exhibition of prosperity in Brainerd the business interests today present the third of their Greater Brainerd campaign editorials on page 5.

Merchants and professional people contend that good deeds and a general cooperative helpfulness on the part of each and every person in this community will add to its good reputation and thereby create a more progressive spirit among everybody.

COURT REPORTERS ELECT OFFICERS

E. J. Egan, Brainerd, Named President of Minnesota Organization

MEETING AT MINNEAPOLIS

35 Court Reporters Attend; Are Feted to Luncheon by George N. Hillman

E. J. Egan, of Brainerd, was elected president of the Minnesota Shorthand Reporters' Association at the annual meeting of the organization last week in the Minneapolis court house. Lou Cary Brahy of St. Paul was named vice president and George Schnepper of Minneapolis, secretary and treasurer.

Members of the executive committee were Jessie Cary Smith of Minneapolis, Olaf W. Nordbye of Granite Falls and W. P. Eckstein of New Ulm. Clifford Ward of Minneapolis was selected as historian.

More than 35 court reporters attended. A luncheon was given in the Dyckman hotel by George N. Hillman, dean of the St. Paul reporters.

It has been many years since this association has had a meeting outside of the cities. Mr. Egan has already started to plan for bringing the 66 court reporters of the state to Brainerd for a summer meeting this year.

AITKIN MAN ON MURDER CHARGE

Irving Bacon Charged With Murder in First Degree for Killing Joe Dore

CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Fight Started After Quarrel Over Family Differences, Inquest Reveals

Irving Bacon, 50 years old, faces a charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Joseph Dore, 35, his brother-in-law, Christmas night at Aitkin.

The coroner's jury found Dore had come to his death by bullet wounds of a pistol in the hands of Bacon. The shooting climaxed a quarrel which started in the Dore home.

Dore was shot in front of his home shortly after he went there with his arms full of Christmas gifts for his wife and two children. He was a French-Canadian and moved to Aitkin recently from Saskatchewan. Bacon also came to Aitkin but a few months ago. County Attorney Stott, of Aitkin said the investigation disclosed that Dore and his wife had some family differences. Bacon, a brother of Dore's widow, was living at the home.

Dore came home after an absence, apparently bent on making amends. In his arms were Christmas gifts intended for his family. Mrs. Dore testified at the inquest that a quarrel started when Bacon saw his brother-in-law.

The quarrel led to a fight. Then the two men left the house, Bacon taking a pistol with him. Bacon, according to the county attorney, left the house first. As Dore stepped from his doorstep, six shots were fired in rapid succession, three of them taking effect.

FINDS FARM IN COUNTY IDEAL

C. A. Ryan Former Kansan Locates on Farm Near Jenkins

IS BEST SUITED

10 Years of Wandering Ends When Contract is Bought

Ten years of wandering through the west and northwest in search of a place that suited him in which to settle down has been ended for C. A. Ryan, who is now located on a farm near Jenkins, in Crow Wing county where he now has a home for the first time in his life. He arrived there just in time to make Christmas his first day in his home.

Mr. Ryan was born and reared on a farm in Western Kansas but left when he was 20 years old to search for a place he could obtain and operate with little capital and which would afford a variety of advantages.

"There were plenty of places that looked pretty good" he said, "but there was always something that kept me from staying. Either it took more money to start than I could obtain, or there was something missing in the surroundings."

Mr. Ryan worked in a number of places. Lately the urge to find a permanent spot that he could develop for himself became more acute, he said, and through H. W. Byerly, immigration agent of the Northern Pacific railway, he found one near Jenkins.

Has Ideal Site

"It has 133 acres, partly improved" he said, "of these, 50 acres are tillable, 20 acres in pasture, and meadow, and the rest in timber. Here I have fuel, fence posts, and building material. There is a small house and some buildings on the place. Clover, the best feed for cattle, grows well and the tillable soil is fertile and assures me crops. There is pure water on the place and forests, lakes and streams around it. I can hunt and fish when I feel like it. What more could a man want?

"I can make good wages this winter cutting timber on my own place and selling it. Some, I can use for improvements. Every year I can add something and gradually build up a real farm. In the meantime, I will be independent, living on the best that the land will offer, and will have hospitable neighbors.

Going to Stay on Farm

"It took a long time to find this place, but now I'm going to stay on it for keeps. This has been my best Christmas so far, spending it on my own place."

Mr. Ryan was in Hartley, Iowa, when he learned through Mr. Byerly of the farm at Jenkins. He came to Minnesota, looked at it, and went back to Hartley just long enough to arrange his affairs, he said. He is 30 years old and single.

SKATING RINK NEARLY READY

Grand Opening of Sport Center Set for Next Saturday, New Year's Day

RACE PROGRAM PLANNED

Hockey Rink Being Flooded. Warming House Touched Up For Use of Members

The skating rink on the White grounds back of the court house is nearly ready for use, workers getting in the last touches this week in order to have it open for use on New Year's day, Saturday. A grand opening is being mapped out for that day, with a porgram of speed races for all ages, and perhaps a hockey game, as well as general skating for all interested.

The warming house has been moved from its old location at the Tenth and Maple rink and is being gone over, made tight and warm, a stove set up and everything put in shape for the use of the members of the Brainerd Outdoor Sports club.

The Brainerd Outdoor Sports club will have its third meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night, Thursday, at 8 o'clock, and all in the city who are interested in this activity are urged and invited to attend.

The rink has received its first icing, and the cold weather of the last few days has helped put it in good shape. The top icing will be given later in the week so the rink will be ready for Saturday's program.

The work on the rink has been largely due to the volunteer work done by Earle Rhodes and George Lowe. These men have put in considerable time getting the pipes laid, rink laid out, snow cleared off, and warming house made ready. The pipes for the watering of the rink are being loaned gratis by Ostrand and Hallett, road contractors.

The rink was cleared of snow by the road grader of the Walter P. Tyrholm Co. The grader used was a Weho one-man grader attached to a Trackson crawler. The officers of the outdoor club appreciate the use of this grader.

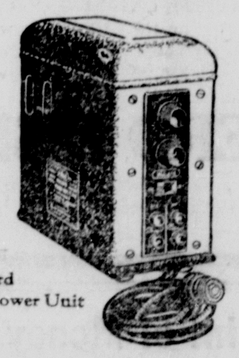

A membership drive will start within a day or two, and the entire business district will be covered. Memberships in the club are one dollar for seniors and twenty-five cents for juniors. As this is the only means of financial support that the skating and hockey rinks have this year, it is hoped that many men of the city will see fit to purchase several memberships.

Use of the rink will be free to anyone in the city, but the warming house will be restricted to the use of club members, with a small fee charged to non-members for use of the house. With the membership fee so low, everyone in the city who skates should provide himself with a membership.

PROSPERITY SPECIAL WILL TIE UP HERE

Officials Declare Intention of Making Brainerd Its Headquarters

SEEK COOPERATION

Each Individual in City Urged to Link With Train of Progress

Through the cooperation of every individual in the city, officials have arranged to have the Prosperity Special, dean of trains of progress tie up in Brainerd.

An effort is now being made to secure Brainerd as its definite headquarters. This can only be attained through the whole hearted support of each person in the city for unless this is done the officials may feel inclined to make the city just one of its brief stopping places.

Brainerd, the city attraction of the playground of the 10,000 lakes is well adapted for the headquarters of the Prosperity Special. Its stores carry a complete line of goods of every description and the store owners and employees are most cordial in presenting their line of goods.

To emphasize the need for a greater exhibition of prosperity in Brainerd the business interests today present the third of their Greater Brainerd campaign editorials on page 5.

Merchants and professional people contend that good deeds and a general cooperative helpfulness on the part of each and every person in this community will add to its good reputation and thereby create a more progressive spirit among everybody.

Children of District No. 3 Give Good Christmas Program Tuesday Evening

HOLIDAY VISITORS

Neighbors Work to Clear Road for Mailman to Make Daily Visits

The children of District No. 3 gave a good program last Tuesday evening. After the program everyone was treated to a box of candy, a bag of nuts, and an apple. The school children each received a gift.

Miss Mae Skrinner left for her home at Eveleth Wednesday.

Ellen and Ingolf Dillan are spending the holidays at the home of their parents.

The Hugheys and Sandgrens have each put in a radio this Christmas season and are enjoying many fine programs.

Olga and Hazel Wicklund spent Christmas at the home of their parents.

Mrs. Hughey is wearing a broad smile for Santa Claus brought her a new Maytag motor driven washing machine.

Florence and Carl Olson spent their Christmas vacation at the home of their parents.

The neighbors all took their teams out and hooked them onto the town grader so now the road between Barr's and Gotham's is open and the mailman can go through again.

Agnes Olson spent Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Olson.

The Bert Thompson family spent Christmas day at the home of Mrs. Thompson's brothers, Lauren and Eugene Caughey. There were 34 present including immediate relatives only.

The Andrew Olson family spent Christmas night at the Wicklund home.

Mr. and Mrs. Juline spent Christmas at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Bert Peterson, of South Long Lake.

Duncan and Matthew Thompson spent Christmas day with their brother Lex and their sister, Mrs. J. D. Ackerson.

Friends will be sorry to hear that little Harlowe Reid is sick with pneumonia.

The preceding news was contributed by Miss Maude Thompson, Star Route, Brainerd.

FINES IMPOSED

One Fined on Disorderly Conduct Charge and the Other for Drunkenness

William Anderson as fined $15 or 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to being intoxicated when arraigned in municipal court this morning.

Albert Anderson pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $25 or 20 days in jail.

Judge J. M. Hayes presided in the absence of Judge Ezra R. Smith.

For the Pantry

White oilcloth makes a very practical covering for pantry shelves. It can be fastened down with thumb tacks which are very easy to remove so that the shelves themselves may be scrubbed.

COURT REPORTERS ELECT OFFICERS

E. J. Egan, Brainerd, Named President of Minnesota Organization

MEETING AT MINNEAPOLIS

35 Court Reporters Attend; Are Feted to Luncheon by George N. Hillman

E. J. Egan, of Brainerd, was elected president of the Minnesota Shorthand Reporters' Association at the annual meeting of the organization last week in the Minneapolis court house. Lou Cary Brahy of St. Paul was named vice president and George Schnepper of Minneapolis, secretary and treasurer.

Members of the executive committee were Jessie Cary Smith of Minneapolis, Olaf W. Nordbye of Granite Falls and W. P. Eckstein of New Ulm. Clifford Ward of Minneapolis was selected as historian.

More than 35 court reporters attended. A luncheon was given in the Dyckman hotel by George N. Hillman, dean of the St. Paul reporters.

It has been many years since this association has had a meeting outside of the cities. Mr. Egan has already started to plan for bringing the 66 court reporters of the state to Brainerd for a summer meeting this year.

AITKIN MAN ON MURDER CHARGE

Irving Bacon Charged With Murder in First Degree for Killing Joe Dore

CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Fight Started After Quarrel Over Family Differences, Inquest Reveals

Irving Bacon, 50 years old, faces a charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Joseph Dore, 35, his brother-in-law, Christmas night at Aitkin.

The coroner's jury found Dore had come to his death by bullet wounds of a pistol in the hands of Bacon. The shooting climaxed a quarrel which started in the Dore home.

Dore was shot in front of his home shortly after he went there with his arms full of Christmas gifts for his wife and two children. He was a French-Canadian and moved to Aitkin recently from Saskatchewan. Bacon also came to Aitkin but a few months ago. County Attorney Stott, of Aitkin said the investigation disclosed that Dore and his wife had some family differences. Bacon, a brother of Dore's widow, was living at the home.

Dore came home after an absence, apparently bent on making amends. In his arms were Christmas gifts intended for his family. Mrs. Dore testified at the inquest that a quarrel started when Bacon saw his brother-in-law.

The quarrel led to a fight. Then the two men left the house, Bacon taking a pistol with him. Bacon, according to the county attorney, left the house first. As Dore stepped from his doorstep, six shots were fired in rapid succession, three of them taking effect.

FINDS FARM IN COUNTY IDEAL

C. A. Ryan Former Kansan Locates on Farm Near Jenkins

IS BEST SUITED

10 Years of Wandering Ends When Contract is Bought

Ten years of wandering through the west and northwest in search of a place that suited him in which to settle down has been ended for C. A. Ryan, who is now located on a farm near Jenkins, in Crow Wing county where he now has a home for the first time in his life. He arrived there just in time to make Christmas his first day in his home.

Mr. Ryan was born and reared on a farm in Western Kansas but left when he was 20 years old to search for a place he could obtain and operate with little capital and which would afford a variety of advantages.

"There were plenty of places that looked pretty good" he said, "but there was always something that kept me from staying. Either it took more money to start than I could obtain, or there was something missing in the surroundings."

Mr. Ryan worked in a number of places. Lately the urge to find a permanent spot that he could develop for himself became more acute, he said, and through H. W. Byerly, immigration agent of the Northern Pacific railway, he found one near Jenkins.

Has Ideal Site

"It has 133 acres, partly improved" he said, "of these, 50 acres are tillable, 20 acres in pasture, and meadow, and the rest in timber. Here I have fuel, fence posts, and building material. There is a small house and some buildings on the place. Clover, the best feed for cattle, grows well and the tillable soil is fertile and assures me crops. There is pure water on the place and forests, lakes and streams around it. I can hunt and fish when I feel like it. What more could a man want?

"I can make good wages this winter cutting timber on my own place and selling it. Some, I can use for improvements. Every year I can add something and gradually build up a real farm. In the meantime, I will be independent, living on the best that the land will offer, and will have hospitable neighbors.

Going to Stay on Farm

"It took a long time to find this place, but now I'm going to stay on it for keeps. This has been my best Christmas so far, spending it on my own place."

Mr. Ryan was in Hartley, Iowa, when he learned through Mr. Byerly of the farm at Jenkins. He came to Minnesota, looked at it, and went back to Hartley just long enough to arrange his affairs, he said. He is 30 years old and single.

SKATING RINK NEARLY READY

Grand Opening of Sport Center Set for Next Saturday, New Year's Day

RACE PROGRAM PLANNED

Hockey Rink Being Flooded, Warming House Touched Up For Use of Members

The skating rink on the White grounds back of the court house is nearly ready for use, workers getting in the last touches this week in order to have it open for use on New Year's day, Saturday. A grand opening is being mapped out for that day, with a porgram of speed races for all ages, and perhaps a hockey game, as well as general skating for all interested.

The warming house has been moved from its old location at the Tenth and Maple rink and is being gone over, made tight and warm, a stove set up and everything put in shape for the use of the members of the Brainerd Outdoor Sports club.

The Brainerd Outdoor Sports club will have its third meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night, Thursday, at 8 o'clock, and all in the city who are interested in this activity are urged and invited to attend.

The rink has received its first icing, and the cold weather of the last few days has helped put it in good shape. The top icing will be given later in the week so the rink will be ready for Saturday's program.

The work on the rink has been largely due to the volunteer work done by Earle Rhodes and George Lowe. These men have put in considerable time getting the pipes laid, rink laid out, snow cleared off, and warming house made ready. The pipes for the watering of the rink are being loaned gratis by Ostrand and Hallett, road contractors.

The rink was cleared of snow by the road grader of the Walter P. Tyrholm Co. The grader used was a Weho one-man grader attached to a Trackson crawler. The officers of the outdoor club appreciate the use of this grader.

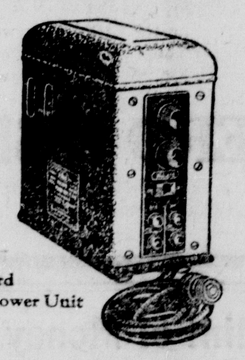

A membership drive will start within a day or two, and the entire business district will be covered. Memberships in the club are one dollar for seniors and twenty-five cents for juniors. As this is the only means of financial support that the skating and hockey rinks have this year, it is hoped that many men of the city will see fit to purchase several memberships.

Use of the rink will be free to anyone in the city, but the warming house will be restricted to the use of club members, with a small fee charged to non-members for use of the house. With the membership fee so low, everyone in the city who skates should provide himself with a membership.

Thomas Meighan in The Paramount Picture 'The Canadian'

Meighan Does Best Work of Career in "Canadian"

Surrounded by a highly capable cast, Thomas Meighan arrives at the Lyceum Theatre Thursday in "The Canadian."

Frank Taylor, having failed to harvest his crop the year before, is shown working for his friend, Ed Marsh. To disturb an otherwise normal existence, Nora Marsh reaches her brother's ranch after having lived most of her twenty years within the confines of London.

Needless to say, the temperaments of Nora and her brother's crude wife clash. And hearing that Taylor wants a wife who will work, she asks if she'll do. Here is where drama of the most poignant sort creeps in and it is in these scenes that Meighan's artistry is said to rise to the very heights.

Renee Adoree as an Irish Heroine

After three French roles in a row, Renee Adoree, the winsome "Melisande" of "The Big Parade," has changed her nationality to Irish.

In the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Blarney," from the Saturday Evening Post story by Donn Byrne, she is "Peggy Nolan," the colleen heroine who loves and finally wins "James Carabine," the Irish prize ring champion played by Ralph Graves.

Her performance in her present picture, now playing at the Lyceum Theatre, is being studied with keen interest by her admirers.

Sore Throat? Don't Gargle

Here's Quicker and Better Relief

Why suffer pain, soreness or discomfort while waiting for slow-acting gargles to give relief? Here's a physician's prescription called Thoxine that is guaranteed to give relief in 15 minutes. One swallow taken internally goes direct to the cause, and kills the germs. No chloroform, iron or other harmful drugs. Safe and pleasant for children. Always ask for "Thoxine." 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold under money-back guarantee of quick relief. Sold by Skauge Drug Co. and all good drug stores. —Advt.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; scothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up an dmiserable. —Adt

Thomas Meighan in The Paramount Picture "The Canadian"

Meighan Does Best Work of Career in "Canadian"

Surrounded by a highly capable cast, Thomas Meighan arrives at the Lyceum Theatre Thursday in "The Canadian."

Frank Taylor, having failed to harvest his crop the year before, is shown working for his friend, Ed Marsh. To disturb an otherwise normal existence, Nora Marsh reaches her brother's ranch after having lived most of her twenty years within the confines of London.

Needless to say, the temperaments of Nora and her brother's crude wife clash. And hearing that Taylor wants a wife who will work, she asks if she'll do. Here is where drama of the most poignant sort creeps in and it is in these scenes that Meighan's artistry is said to rise to the very heights.

Renee Adoree as an Irish Heroine

After three French roles in a row, Renee Adoree, the winsome "Melisande" of "The Big Parade," has changed her nationality to Irish.

In the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Blarney," from the Saturday Evening Post story by Donn Byrne, she is "Peggy Nolan," the colleen heroine who loves and finally wins "James Carabine," the Irish prize ring champion played by Ralph Graves.

Her performance in her present picture, now playing at the Lyceum Theatre, is being studied with keen interest by her admirers.
